Foreword

THE movement adequately and properly to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the ratification of the Ghent Treaty in 1915, which began informally in 1906, assumed a public status on February 20th, 1910, through the organization of the American Committee for the Celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of Peace Among English-Speaking Peoples.

As was announced on the day the National Committee was organized, it is the plan of the American Committee, in conformity with the formally-expressed sentiment of the International Conference held in New York, May 5-10, 1913, also properly and adequately to celebrate the century of peace between America and France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Holland, and the other great nations of the world with which we have never engaged in war.

The celebration movement derives its inspiration and impetus from the fact that, for one hundred years, all disputed questions between America and Great Britain, and, with two exceptions, between America and the other nations of the world, have been settled one by one by means of diplomacy, or arbitration. This achievement is all the more striking when there is taken into consideration the unfortified frontier of 3,840 miles which separates the United States from its Northern neighbor and friend—Canada.

It is natural, therefore, that there should spontaneously have grown up a desire in America and throughout the British Empire to celebrate this century of peace between two peoples who are kindred in language, law, and institutions. And it was but natural, too, that it should have mutually occurred to the celebration committees of America and the British Empire that there should be recognized in some signal and fitting way the peace which has existed as between the Republic and the Empire, and Germany, France and other nations.

It should be said once and for all in response to the misstatements which are being made with reference to the celebration, that the committees representing the movement are engaged in no purpose other than that which appears in this pamphlet and other formal documents, and that any other statement is an unqualified and malicious perversion of facts. Equally untrue is any assertion that the Committee represents any person or organization other than itself and its own members.

The influence of the Committee is being exerted towards securing the highest artistic character possible for the monuments which will be erected commemorating the anniversary. It is desired that all American memorials shall, in sentiment and purpose, be less a commemoration of the past than covenants for the future of present amity and good-will to all mankind

It has been said in very truth that—

The celebration of this anniversary offers the best opportunity our age will see for the cultivation of world-wide good-will.

The headquarters of the American Committee are at 50 Church Street, New York, where the work of the National Committee is being done through a sub-Executive Committee, John A. Stewart, Chairman. All matters concerning State and local celebrations are in the hands of State and City committees.

THE American Committee appeals, (in the light of the unusually drastic provisions which have been made for safeguarding expenditures) for funds which are needed in the carrying out of the National and International program.

Contributions may be sent to Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Chairman Finance Committee, 30 Pine Street, New York, or to the Treasurer, Mr. James L. Wandling, Treasurer of the New York Savings Bank, Eighth Avenue and 14th Street, New York, or in care of J. P. Morgan & Co., Depository, New York.

Plan and Purpose of Movement to Celebrate the One Hundredth Anniversary of Peace Among English Speaking Peoples

1814-'15—1914-'15

(From Address of Mr. Andrew B. Humphrey)
(Mohonk Conference, May, 1911, Revised)

IT is significant that the signing of the Treaty of Ghent on Christmas Eve, 1814, was not brought about by the Commissioners assigned to that duty, for after they had been in conference for nearly six months the two Nations themselves, forced by a strong public sentiment among the peoples of both countries demanding peace, directed the Commissioners to conclude a peace pact regardless of the prior claims set forth by the Commissioners and their respective governments. Thus the Ghent treaty was concluded without reference to the issues which brought on the war. The treaty was forced by public sentiment and is a monument to that greater force than war—irresistible public opinion.

This same force of public opinion has maintained peace for a century regardless of treaties and despite the failure of treaties, and has brought about the elimination of substantially all the serious causes of irritation between the two countries.

The idea of celebrating the century of peace seems to have occurred spontaneously to many people, and without cooperation. It was first discussed during the administration of former President Roosevelt, and it is probably true that through President Roosevelt, Mr. Andrew Carnegie, former Minister MacKenzie King, of Canada, Mr. John A. Stewart, of New York, and the support of the Lake Mohonk Peace Conference, the project of a celebration took organized and definite form. Minister King in an address at the Harvard Commencement of 1909 and again at Lake Mohonk in 1910, urged a celebration of the event.

In February, 1910, Mr. Stewart called a meeting in New York City of representatives of various business, religious and professional organizations, at which a preliminary committee was organized. This committee in turn called a general meeting, which organized The National Committee for the Celebration of the One Hundredth Anniversary of Peace Among English-Speaking Peoples.

The Committee chose former President Roosevelt for the Honorary Chairmanship and Mr. Andrew Carnegie as Chairman. Their acceptances, as well as those of former Vice-President Fairbanks for the position of Honorary Chairman of the Executive Committee, and of former Vice-Presidents Levi P. Morton and Adlai E. Stevenson, Senator Elihu Root, Mr. William Jennings Bryan, Mr. Alton B. Parker, and former Ambassador Joseph H. Choate of positions as Honorary Vice-Chairmen, signalized the launching of the movement, and the perfecting of a permanent organization.

The membership of the National Committee is rapidly approaching ten thousand.

Since the essential work of organization was completed and a full corps of officers and committees was elected, the National Committee has been at work in the development of a definite program.*

* In accord with the original plan an "International Conference" convened in New York City during the week of May 4th, 1913, and agreed upon a tentative program for the celebration of the Ghent Treaty. In this conference, delegates were present from Great Britain, Canada, Australia, Newfoundland and the United States. His Majesty, the King of England, gave direct sanction to the movement, and the President of the United States welcomed the delegates and approved the general plan of the celebration. The proceedings of this conference have been published by the Committee in a separate pamphlet, which may be had upon application to the Committee at 50 Church Street, New York.

There is every promise and expectation that all the leading nations of the world will, in some appropriate manner, and through their own initiative, take such action as will indicate their interest in, and approval of, the event.

There are several reasons why the Committee was so thoroughly organized far in advance of the date of the celebration. One was to effect a union of all the various movements which have been initiated to celebrate the Peace Centenary, and to create a body that could act in an advisory as well as in a supervisory capacity; and in order to anticipate the legislative approval of states, where immediate action was necessary; and to provide a comprehensive program for 1914-15, especially if completed memorials are to be dedicated.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO CELEBRATION

Suggestions have come from various parts of the English-speaking world—

1. Since the Treaty of Ghent was signed on the evening of December 24, 1814, it seems especially fitting that the formal and official announcement of a world-wide call to all the nations, to participate in the Century Peace Celebration, should be made on Christmas Eve 1913. This would be an auspicious beginning of the official program for 1914.

2. That the hundredth anniversary of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent (Dec. 24, 1814) be celebrated with suitable ceremony in Ghent and also in the churches, schools, societies, organizations, clubs, legislative bodies and Parliaments throughout the English-speaking world.

3. That a ceremonial banquet be given in Ghent on the evening of January 8, 1915, in replica of the banquet given by the municipality of Ghent to the Joint High Commission on January 8, 1815, and that responses be made to the same toasts that were the subjects of the addresses on that occasion.

4. That (the suggestion coming from United States Senator Elihu Root), the celebration formally begin on the 17th of February, 1915, the date of the ratification of the Ghent Treaty, and in this solemn and impressive way:

For a given five minutes on a fixed date and hour, so far as practicable, all the wheels of industry and social and business activity shall cease, throughout the English-speaking world.

5. That American-English peace monuments be erected along the United States-Canadian boundary line, and in the capitals of all the states in the United States; in Washington, D. C., and such other cities and countries as may be selected and approved by the peoples, cities and countries interested.

6. That bronze tablets of various sizes, of uniform design and with identical inscriptions, be recommended for public buildings and institutions, with the idea of perpetuating the object of the celebration through permanent memorials embodying the highest sentiments and the best art.

7. That the dedication of these monuments be utilized for educational purposes, by memorial exercises in churches, schools, societies, fraternal organizations, etc.

8. That advantage be taken of the occasion to spread broadcast, through special publications, the inspiring lessons and benefits of a century of peace.

9. That a memorial history be written under the joint authorship of a representative Englishman and a representative American, with monographs by experts, on special phases of the subject. (The history is provided for.)

10. That a new type of celebration be inaugurated in connection with the Panama Canal celebration at San Francisco, in 1915, showing the progress of the arts of peace during the century.

11. That there be a great merchant marine parade from Buffalo to Duluth and return, with celebrations in the border cities and towns.

12. That there be formulated a plan of cooperation for international boulevards, parks and parkways, at such focal points as the Niagara, Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie, Washington and British Columbia frontiers, etc.

13. That permanent monuments and memorials, such as water-gates, be erected on either side of the border line river cities.

14. That a tunnel be constructed from Windsor to Detroit by way of Belle Island park as the connecting link between the Canadian and American Boulevard systems.

15. That the plan of Boulevard extension now being constructed by the State of New York and the province of Ontario on the Niagara River frontier include the Islands in the river with provision for additional parks on the shore at selected points on each side of the river.

16. That the entire American and Canadian frontier of 3,840 miles be marked at intervals with monuments of distinct and appropriate design and enduring quality.

17. That a World Statue of Peace be erected in New York Harbor on a new artificial island southwest of Governor's Island, and facing the Statue of Liberty, so that both "Liberty and Fraternity" may welcome the nations and peoples "at the cross-roads" of the world's peaceful intercourse, and, that the twenty million school children in the United States be the builders of this mute but eloquent appeal of humanity to humanity!

18. That four massive "Pillars of Peace" be erected, two at opposite sides of each terminal of the Panama Canal, as a perpetual reminder that it should forever be a veritable "pathway of peace" for all the nations.

19. That a museum of the industrial arts be erected in New York City, and dedicated to the uses of the people as a place of public meeting for the promotion of the peaceful arts and sciences and friendly international intercourse.

20. That there be erected in Washington, the capital of the United States, and in London, the capital of the British Empire, two monuments, identical in design and legend.

21. That effort be made to co-ordinate and correlate some of the highways now under construction in the United States and Canada and to cause the enactment by the Congress of the United States, the Parliament of the Dominion, and the legislatures of the States and Provinces, of laws which will permit a suitable and impressive titular designation of such highway or highways, so that they may form international boulevards connecting focal points in the United States with focal points in Canada; as, for example, the boulevard now building by the State of New York between New York City and the frontier at Moore's Junction, and by the Province of Quebec between Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Windsor and the Canadian frontiers.

22. That there be completed the ninety miles of boulevards now in course of construction on the shores of the Niagara River from lake to lake by the State of New York and the Province of Ontario, and that these boulevards be connected by appropriate memorial bridges between Buffalo and Fort Erie, between Niagara Falls, New York, and Niagara Falls, Canada, and between Youngstown, New York, and Niagara-on-the-Lake, Canada.

23. That ample provision be made for future needs of international parks along the Canadian frontier in New England, as, for example, the establishment of a park in the Fort Montgomery reservation on Lake Champlain, at the Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls and the Niagara frontier, Detroit, Sault Ste. Marie, and Westward to Vancouver Island.

24. That a comprehensive plan be prepared by an international and by local committees of engineers, architects, sculptors and landscape artists of renown, outlining a definite scheme for the present and anticipating the future, as a beginning of an era of artistic development and embellishment of the Canadian frontier, and such other points as may consistently be associated with this centennial project and which shall harmonize with the general plan to provide the foundation of centuries of artistic development as an expression of progressive civilization.

25. That the celebration conclude with International Congresses, opening in New York and ending at the Panama Exposition in San Francisco in 1915, concentrating the peace sentiment of the world upon the specific accomplishments desired through the Third Hague Peace Conference, which will probably be in session at that time, and with general reference to the peace, prosperity and welfare of the peoples of the world.

26. That there be suitable pageantry celebrations in connection with the International and local celebrations.

27. That there be a general day of thanksgiving in celebration at the capitals of all of the American states, and of the Provinces of Canada and other component parts of the nations of the British Empire.

28. That a monument be erected on the battlefield of New Orleans, on the site of the house where General Packingham died, in memory of the dead of the British and American armies, and dedicated to the hope and belief that it is erected on the site of the last battle between armies of English-speaking origin.

29. That there be issues of memorial postage, coinage and medals.

30. That a memorial arch be built to span the international New York to Montreal Highway at the American-Canadian frontier, and a similar arch on the boundary line of the Los Angeles and Vancouver boulevard.

31. While the official celebration of the Treaty of Ghent will close in 1915, it is highly important that the Rush-Bagot Treaty of 1817, should be commemorated in some adequate manner. For this Treaty marked a mile-stone, in the pathway of peace, when, by its agreement, a border line of 3,840 miles between the United States and Canada, became an unfortified boundary merely for purposes of local government and taxation.

Finally, it should be kept in mind that, while war celebrations have been spectacular in history, this celebration will emphasize the victories of peace through the spiritual, intellectual, industrial, political and economic triumphs of a marvelous century of development and progress towards international righteousness and justice.

Charles M. Hays, Canada,
President Grand Trunk Railway

These members of our National Committee, with sixteen hundred and thirty-five men and women, lost their lives on Monday, April 15th, 1912, when the steamship "Titanic" collided with an iceberg and sank to the bottom of the North Atlantic.

Let him that would find the epitaph of these men who thus lost their lives, read it in the women and children who survived and for whom they sacrificed themselves like brave, God-fearing and honorable men.

"Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

"A brother offended is harder to be won than a strong city; and their contentions are like the bars of a castle."

"The chief causes of war to-day are insult, contemptuous treatment, bad manners, arrogant and provincial assertion of superiority on the part of the people of one nation towards those of another. . . . When public opinion has risen to such height all over the world, that the peoples of every country treat the peoples of every other country with the human kindness that binds home communities together, you will see an end of war—and not until then."

—United States Senator Elihu Root.

"Devise not evil against thy neighbor."

"Therefore all things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them."
